NUMBER OF TREES OR PLANTS REQUIRED PER ACRE—HOW TO ESTIMATE

Rule—Divide 43560 (the number of square feet in an acre) by the number of square feet for each plant. The result is the number required for an acre.

Example—Trees 20x25 ft. apart; 20x25 equals 500 square feet; 43,560 divided by 500 equals 87 trees per acre.

If trees are planted on the equilateral triangular system, 15 per cent more trees will be required.

Usual Distances for Planting

INTRODUCTION

In issuing this condensed catalogue the description of varieties is left out for want of space. Those named are standard and especially adapted for the Northwest.

Varieties of Apple and Cherry marked with an asterisk (*) are very hardy and recommended for high altitudes and where winters are severe.

No pains or expense are spared to grow the very best. It is as good as can be grown. Every detail of planting, growing, packing, shipping, the selection of scions and buds, is given careful, personal attention by experienced men. We take infinitely more pains than do many nurseries with whose methods we are familiar.

Our stock is free from pest or disease. Every shipment bears the inspection certificate of a Deputy State Inspector. We are licensed and bonded in every state where we sell.

If we can assist you with any information on any point that may be puzzling you, write us freely, and we will gladly give you the benefit of our judgment and experience.

Our interest in your order does not end with delivery. We stand back of every tree or plant we send out, and are always at our office in the Commercial Bank Building.

As to our responsibility, we refer you to any bank or other business establishment in Wenatchee.

INSTRUCTIONS

1. We begin shipping in the fall about Oct. 25th, and in the spring about March 1st. In the spring our cool basement holds stock practically dormant into the month of May, when trees are in full leaf outside.

2. Persons not acquainted with the different varieties would do well to leave the selection to us, as we shall send only those best adapted to their particular locality.

3. We hold ourselves in readiness to rectify promptly any mistakes that may occur. Stock should be carefully examined and counted as soon as received. If anything is wrong, notify us at once, stating what the trouble is, and do not plant until you hear from us.

All fruit trees listed in order of ripening. For complete description of varieties, see illustrated catalog. For prices, where not given, see slip opposite front page.

SHADE AND ORNAMENTAL

There is no better investment for the home than ornamental trees and shrubbery. The Massachusetts Forestry Association asked a number of real estate men: "How much do full grown shade trees along the street improve the value of adjoining residence property?" The average answers lay between 25 and 40 per cent. Aside from the purely commercial value there is added pleasure in the home. What is more inviting on a sultry summer day than a cool, shady lawn, tastefully decorated with trees, shrubs and flowers. It is not difficult to so arrange shrubs as to make the home more beautiful as well as more comfortable. The house, of course, must be in the focus of the picture. It can be made to blend gracefully with its surroundings by planting dwarf shrubs around the foundation, breaking the sharp angles and corners. The monotony may be relieved by planting higher shrubs between the windows and using shrubs which flower at different times. Even a small lawn may be made very attractive by leaving the lawn itself clean, but massing shrubbery around the outer border. Eyesores may be covered with vines or climbing roses, or screened by tall bushes. If you wish more definite information send for our free illustrated booklet.

ROSES

CHOICE TWO-YEAR-OLD FIELD GROWN ROSES

Not Hothouse Grown.

Our large field-grown rose bushes should not be compared with small, tender hothouse plants offered by the mail-order houses at low prices. Such plants are always disappointing, not blooming until the second season.

Our bushes are hardy, field-grown, well rooted, and will bloom the first season.

For prices of all varieties not specially priced see slip opposite front page.

WINDBREAKS

Too many farm yards in the grain-growing and stock-raising districts of the Northwest are without windbreaks.

In the states east of the Rocky Mountains a tree windbreak has long been recognized as a necessary protection, and but few farms are without them. They not only furnish protection and shelter from severe winds, but give shade to family, live stock and poultry during the hot summer weather.

Many farmers have the mistaken idea that windbreak trees cannot be grown in the drier regions, but it is a proven fact that certain varieties can be grown wherever farming can be carried on. A little care in planting, followed by frequent cultivation during the first season is all that is required. Where rainfall is very light, Black Locust, Russian Mulberry and Box Elder do well. Where moisture is more plentiful, in addition to the above mentioned varieties, plant Carolina Poplar, Lombardy Poplar and Silver Maple. All of the above varieties are rapid growers and hardy.
